Dear Nilda Tri Putri,

You have successfully submitted your article "DESIGN OF QUALITY SYSTEM DOCUMENTATION IN HYDROTILLER PRODUCTION UNIT AS IMPROVEMENT OF QUALITY MANAGEMENT SYSTEM IN CV CITRA DRAGON" for the International Journal of Productivity and Quality Management.

Your submission code is IJPQM-92272

Please use this code when you contact us regarding your submission.

Your article is now being put in the Screening Process. You will receive an automatic "Submission Acknowledgement" email within the next four days stating when your article has successfully been screened and queued to be peer-reviewed. If your article is found unsuitable by our Screening Process, it will be automatically removed and you may not receive any submission acknowledgement from us. If your article is withdrawn or rejected, any author copyright agreement(s) will be destroyed.

FAQs

- How long will take to review my article?

That depends of the journal. Please contact the journal editor for more precise information. However, if your article is still under review after six months of submission, you should contact us at submissions@inderscience.com

- What happens during the Screening Process?

All new submissions are screened by the staff at the Editorial Office to filter out incomplete articles and unsuitable or malicious information. It also removes authors' identifications found in submissions, to preserve the blind peer-review policy. Our staff verifies the details of your nominated experts (if required). The Screening Process also removes or flags duplicate submissions. Your manuscript will automatically be removed if it is found to be a malicious or below standards submission. In this case you will not receive any acknowledgment from the Editorial Office.

- How I can know if my article is being reviewed?

You can monitor the review progress of your submission by periodically logging in to <http://www.inderscience.com> and from <http://www.inderscience.com/ospeers/admin/user> following the menu links:

Author -> Track -> View Review Progress

The editor will notify you by email when the first round of review has been completed.

- If I don't receive email messages from the Editor, can I assume that nothing is happening?

No. Because there are chances that our emails never arrive to you due anti-spam protections, we strongly advise you to log in to <http://www.inderscience.com> at least once a week and from Author -> Track -> View Review Progress find and click the "Editor/Author Comments" link to see if there is a new message for you from the editor.

We thank you for submitting your article and for your interest in the International Journal of Productivity and Quality Management (IJPQM).
